

TESTIMONIALS :

Steve Culbertson, of Landmarkk Design and Construction Inc., has done several projects for me over the years. He has advised me on:

- Proposed new residential construction projects including design, drawings, and costs.
- Residential rehab projects from single family homes to apartment buildings and condo conversions.

He has a realistic approach to quickly evaluating cost vs. benefit when analyzing whether we should proceed with a project at all. Next his detailed cost estimates set up our project budget; I have found his numbers to be quite accurate. In the actual undertaking of a development, he understands the necessary sequence, preparation, permitting, material ordering, and execution of all the parts. He also has a pretty good stable of cost effective subs to do the work.

I would recommend him for similar projects.

We only worked with Landmarkk through the exploratory phase and preliminary designs. Unfortunately, we had to pull out due other circumstances. Steve is a great guy. He has a ton of experience. Five star customer service and quality.

Steve and I worked together on the design of a house for my own residence. He came up with several variations of the initial idea with corresponding costs for each. He also provided several exterior looks for the house, which I liked very much. Steve's ability to compare different design and cost options is a very useful tool for anyone considering a house project like ours.

The price looks right, and I really like how you kept the "cuteness" of our home.
